

Price of Industrial Iron Poles for Communication

AI Overview

Industrial steel communication poles typically range from $600 per unit for bulk 30–40m monopoles to mid-range $1,000–$2,500 per unit depending on height, material, and customization. Pricing Overview The cost of industrial communication poles depends on height, material, design, and quantity. For example, 30–40m galvanized steel monopoles suitable for 5G infrastructure can cost around $600 per unit when purchased in bulk (200+ units), while mid-range poles for rooftop or smaller deployments may range from $1,000 to $2,500 per unit depending on corrosion resistance, load capacity, and aesthetic features. Custom designs, such as camouflaged or tapered poles, may increase the price. Factors Affecting Price Material: Hot-dip galvanized steel, ASTM A572 GR65 steel, or composite materials are common. Galvanized steel offers 30-year corrosion resistance and structural durability. Height: Poles range from 10 to 150 feet (3–45m), with taller poles costing more due to additional steel and structural requirements. Design: Monopoles, multi-sided tapered poles, and integrated poles (e.g., with street lighting or IoT sensors) affect cost. Multi-functional poles with smart city integration are more expensive. Quantity: Bulk orders significantly reduce per-unit cost. OEM or factory-direct purchases often provide wholesale discounts. Standards Compliance: Poles meeting ASTM, IEC, ANSI/TIA, or CE standards may have higher upfront costs but ensure safety and long-term reliability. Supplier Examples Jiangsu Mingyuan: 30–40m galvanized steel poles, bulk pricing ~$600/unit. Sichuan Xiangyue: Mid-range 5G-ready poles with corrosion resistance, suitable for urban deployments. Zhejiang Valiant: Telescopic aluminum poles for budget-conscious projects, though with lower load capacity. Futao: Offers 100–120ft telecommunication poles made of ASTM A57...
